

Here's a basic outline for an argumentative essay:

I. Introduction

Hook or attention-grabbing statement

Background information on the topic

Clear thesis statement presenting your main argument

II. Body

A. First Supporting Point

- Topic sentence presenting your first argument
- Evidence or examples to support the argument
- Explanation or analysis of the evidence

B. Second Supporting Point

- Topic sentence presenting your second argument
- Evidence or examples to support the argument
- Explanation or analysis of the evidence

C. Third Supporting Point (if needed)

- Topic sentence presenting your third argument
- Evidence or examples to support the argument
- Explanation or analysis of the evidence

III. Counterargument

Acknowledge the opposing viewpoint

Refute the counterargument with evidence

Explain why your argument is stronger

IV. Conclusion

Restate the thesis statement

Summarize the main points of your arguments

Provide a closing thought or call to action
